

ACLA CONFERENCE 2023

Annual Meeting

CHICAGO

MARCH

16th-19th

Land Acknowledgment

This year the American Comparative Literature Associations meets in downtown Chicago on the traditional, ancestral, and treaty territory of the Potawatomi. The greater Chicago area is situated on the homelands of the Potawatomi people, who cared and stewarded the land until forced out by non-Native settlers. The Ojibwe, Odawa, Peoria, Kaskaskia, Miami, Mascouten, Sac and Fox, Kickapoo, Ho-Chunk, Menominee, and tribes whose names have been lost as a result of genocide also lived, gathered, and traded in this region. Today, Chicago is home to the largest urban Indigenous population in the Midwest, and they continue to honor this land and its waterways, practice their traditions, and celebrate their heritage.

The 1833 Treaty of Chicago forced many Potawatomi out of Illinois and onto a drastically smaller stretch of land west of the Mississippi River. Many ultimately ended up in what is now Kansas and Oklahoma. This treaty was part of the wave of forced migrations stemming from the 1830 Indian Removal Act, signed into law by President Andrew Jackson to authorize mass dispossession and genocide. Over a century later, with the Indian Relocation Act of 1956, Indigenous people were relocated to urban centers, in a manner modeled after the forced relocation of Japanese-American citizens during World War II. Chicago became a major destination for relocated Indigenous people, who, when they arrived, were faced with poverty, isolation, and discrimination. Despite such adversity, Indigenous people in Chicago fought for community, establishing the first urban intertribal friendship center in the United States. These forced removals and relocations were the foundation for the city of Chicago today, now the home of the largest urban population of Native Americans in the midwest. For more information on Native American populations in Chicago today please see the IRRPP report "Adversity and Resiliency for Chicago's First: The State of Racial Justice for American Indian [sic] Chicagoans."

Building on the ACLA 2022 Taiwan conference where the work of Indigenous Austronesian artists, performers, writers and scholars was highlighted, the organizers for this year's conference endeavor to ensure that the program reflects the fields of Black and Indigenous Studies. Chicago is also home to large Black, Arab and Latinx communities. In solidarity with efforts to raise awareness for racial justice, the promise of ACLA and this conference lies in its support for critiques of colonial settlement and the sedimentation of slavery and coloniality. This year we have also made space for faculty and graduate student scholars to share their experiences of unionizing.

Comparative study has played an essential role in the normalization and naturalization of settler-colonialism through forms of epistemic erasure. By acknowledging the Potawatomi and their sovereignty over these territories, we seek to open a space of reflection conducive to anti-colonial thought and practice. This land acknowledgement was written by members of the ACLA executive committee and the local organizing committee with reference to John Low's "Chicago is on the Lands of the Potawatomi People: Why Land Acknowledgements for Chicago Should Acknowledge this Historical Fact."

Welcome from the President

Rei Terada

On behalf of the ACLA Advisory Board, welcome to the ACLA Annual Meeting in Chicago.

After one meeting cancelled by COVID-19 considerations and another rendered virtual by them, ACLA hopes to offer a long unavailable chance to connect with friends and colleagues and explore new associations, as safely as possible. Masks are recommended in indoor settings. Please socialize in open air as you can and avoid indoor crowds.

It's not too uncommon to hear people say that ACLA is their favorite conference because the long-format seminars allow more developed thought. Another valuable feature of the conference is the requirement that seminars include scholars of varied levels and positions, at least graduate students and faculty together: it has enhanced the quality of the conference by seriously inviting graduate work. If you are thinking about organizing a seminar for next year, please push this further if you can. Independent scholars, advanced undergraduates, scholars at different kinds of institutions, are responsible for testing what would otherwise be hegemonic intellectual positions. They are welcome as session conveners and should be represented fully throughout, using travel assistance. In recent years, including this one, conference organizers have tried to make sure that the term "comparative" does not restrict the movement of thought that it seeks to enable. The point of "comparison" is range and challenge; ACLA (and Comparative Literature departments) shouldn't deploy it to exclude challenging work that doesn't refer to two languages but does achieve the critical transformation that working in multiple languages aims at in the first place. Given fascist attacks on thought in many contemporary societies, ACLA seeks to expand the discipline's support and interest in fields most under attack--black studies, Islamic studies, native and indigenous studies, Palestinian studies, transgender studies. ACLA plans to stand by the distinction between institutional filler and critical writing. I hope this can be an occasion where that distinction can be leveraged, bringing some relief and pleasure to scholarly work.

This year sees ACLA's introduction of an innovation among learned societies' meetings: workshops dedicated to unionizing the academic workplace. "Organizing and Forming a Union," an introductory session of practical information for those seeking to explore unionization, will take place on Friday from 12:30 PM - 1:45 PM in Chicago 8. On Saturday, a second workshop will follow, intended for faculty and graduate students who already have a union, focusing on strategies for negotiating contracts and striking. We are deeply grateful to Nasser Mufti and Harris Feinsod for coordinating it, as well as for their assistance as liaisons to the University of Illinois-Chicago and Northwestern University. For their kind participation in the workshops, we thank Taylor Bickford of Union of Pitt Faculty, UPF-USW; Jessica Kim Conte of the California Federation of Teachers; Dennis Hogan, Haverford College; Matt Kirkpatrick and Julie Beth Napolin of AAUP; Aaron Krall of UIC United Faculty; Mia McIver, the past president of UC AFT-Local 1474; Dianca Potts of ACT-UAW 7902; Katherine Shy of UEW Indiana; and Stephan Yong of UAW 2865 UC Santa Cruz.

Over the last two years, ACLA cut fees and expanded travel awards in recognition of the pressures and limitations of COVID-19 quarantine and an online conference and, more enduringly, the precarious circumstances and limited income of many members. This year travel awards were directly enhanced by donations from the University of Illinois Chicago's Center for Latinx Literature of the Americas and Institute for the Humanities. We are grateful for this generosity and solidarity.

ACLA is honored to have a poetry reading by Daniel Borutzky at our opening festivities on Thursday from 6:00-8:00pm. We are pleased and excited that our keynote speaker is the brilliant Frédéric Neyrat, lecturing on Saturday at 6:00 p.m. ACLA welcomes Ranjanna Khanna, Fernanda Negrete, Lee Edelman, Azeen Khan, Ankhi Mukherjee, Shilyh Warren, Cate Reilly, and Dina Al-Kassim to “Why Psychoanalysis?,” a panel organized for ACLA by Ranjanna Khanna. “Why Psychoanalysis?” takes place on Friday and Saturday, 8:30-10:15 a.m. in Chicago 8. ACLA is grateful to Michael Allan, editor of Comparative Literature, and Nergis Ertürk for offering a workshop on first article publication on Thursday at 4:00 PM - 5:45 PM in Chicago 10; and to Liz Kinnaman and Cornesha Tweede, graduate representatives to the Advisory Board, for organizing the workshop “Digital Humanities and Multilingual Literary Studies” on Thursday at 4:00 PM - 5:45 PM in the Ontario Room. Many thanks to Nicoletta Pireddu for arranging the Undergraduate Seminar “Revisiting the City,” a Stream C panel taking place in the Illinois Boardroom.

Graduate students should note the Graduate Cocktail Hour on Friday at 4:30pm in the Fountainview Room, which luckily precedes my talk at 6:00pm in Chicago 8-9 and the presentation of annual book and publication awards, recognizing exceptional work in the field, at 7:30 pm in Superior A-B. For selecting awards, and the vast donation of time that entails, we thank Anthony Alessandrini, Pavel Andrade, Simona Bertacco, Xiomara Cervantes-Gómez, Jonathan Culler, J. Daniel Elam, Hala Halim, Tsitsi Jaji, Mary Layoun, Jap-Nanak Kaur Makkar, J. Scott Miller, Samantha Pinto, Juan G. Ramos, Kamran Rastegar, Mark Sanders, Akshya Saxena, Janet A. Walker, and Travis Workman.

Finally, I would like to thank the members of the Executive Committee: Chief Administrative Officer Danielle Fanucchi, Dina Al-Kassim, Karen Emmerich, and Ranji Khanna; Brigid Kennedy, Communications and Development Coordinator, the 2023 Program Committee: Omoniyi Afolabi, Karen Emmerich, Nicoletta Pireddu, and Haun Saussy; Luis Restrepo and the Association of Departments and Programs of Comparative Literature (ADPCL); and all other members of the ACLA Advisory Board: Michael Allan, Liz Kinnaman, Robert Meister, Shu-mei Shih, E.K. Tan, Cornesha Tweede, and Jennifer Wenzel. Everyone above has given their time incessantly on a completely volunteer basis. We really hope you enjoy the offerings of one another’s seminars! Ask hard questions and have a really nice time, things that are more closely related than it might seem.

Best wishes,

Rei Terada

INSTITUTE FOR THE HUMANITIES

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Founded in 1982, the Institute for the Humanities at University of Illinois at Chicago supports innovative research and scholarship that has changed the course of humanistic inquiry in the US and abroad. Over the years, the Institute has become the hub for all humanities activities at UIC, creating an intellectual space in which faculty and students can broaden their perspectives and engage with interlocutors and audiences within and beyond the university. Highlights of the Institute include a faculty fellow program, ten working groups, a lecture series, and international conferences. With a new Digital Humanities Initiative and an expanding roster of community partners, the Institute also provides new ways for our campus to connect, engage, and collaborate in our city and across the world.

Center for Latinx Literature of the Americas

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

UIC's Center for Latinx Literature of the Americas brings together writers, artists, activists, faculty members, students and the Chicago community to study, create, and celebrate new and innovative modes of literature, art and criticism. The Center is housed in the English and Latin American and Latino Studies Departments with the mission of positing a model for literary production that is interdisciplinary, border crossing, and which reflects the ways in which Chicago is a multilingual, diasporic city of the Americas. We focus on art and literature that is politically engaged and inseparable from larger questions of race, social justice, language equality and human rights. We are transhemispheric, and committed to artistic exchange between writers in the U.S. and Latin America. And we believe that translation and multilingual experimentation ought to be at the center of U.S. literary culture, and not the margins.

4:00 pm-5:45 pm

Organizers and Moderators:

Michael Allan, Department of Comparative Literature and Cinema Studies, University of Oregon, ACLA Publications Committee Chair.

Nergis Ertürk, Department of Comparative Literature, Penn State University.

Description:

Led by Michael Allan, editor of Comparative Literature, and Nergis Ertürk, editor of Comparative Literature Studies, this workshop focuses on the steps to publishing a peer reviewed article. Topics include the conversion of a panel or seminar paper into an article, creating a convincing abstract, defining the article’s contribution, and avoiding major pitfalls.

Pre-Conference Workshop: “Digital Humanities and Multilingual Literary Studies”

Location: Ontario

4:00 pm-5:45 pm

Organizers and Moderators:

Liz Kinnamon, University of Arizona

Cornesha Tweede, Arizona State University

Description:

This workshop will offer an overview of some of the ways that literary scholars can engage the methodologies of digital humanities in conducting and presenting their research; it will treat, in particular, the challenges as well as possibilities for working with digital tools in multilingual and translingual environments. Topics will include inequities in digital knowledge production, DH and language justice, and the kinds of questions DH can be used to ask and answer. Brief presentations by the speakers will be followed by Q&A and conversation with workshop attendees.

Panelists:

Danielle Bainbridge, Assistant Professor of Theatre at Northwestern University

Richard Jean So, Associate Professor of English at McGill University

Ryan Heuser, Research Software Engineer in Princeton’s Center for Digital Humanities

Opening Reception and Poetry Reading

Location: Chicago 8 and 9

General Information

REGISTRATION

The registration table is located on the lobby floor of the Sheraton Grand Chicago, just inside the convention entrance.

BOOK EXHIBIT

The Book Exhibit is located on Level 2 of the Sheraton Grand Chicago in the Michigan Room. Exhibitors offer books for purchase each day of the conference. This year's exhibitors are:

Amherst College Press
Bloomsbury Academic
Brill
The Edwin Mellen Press
Northwestern University Press
The Scholar's Choice
University of Chicago Press

The Book Exhibit will be open on the following days and times:

Day 1: Thursday, March 16th 3:00pm - 5:45pm
Day 2: Friday, March 17th 8:00am - 5:45pm
Day 3: Saturday, March 18th 8:00am - 5:45pm
Day 4: Sunday, March 19th 8:00am - 12:30pm

ACCESSIBILITY

All conference locations are wheelchair accessible. All spaces can be accessed via an ADA elevator located on the west side of the hotel (opposite the guest elevators). Elevators go to the Lobby, Ballroom, and all guest room floors.

Two lactation rooms are available in the Lobby level near the restrooms on the west side of the lobby. No key is required. An all-gender restroom is available on the 2nd floor.

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY

For any safety concerns during the conference, dial 911 for emergencies or the Chicago Police Department (312) 746-6000 for non-emergencies.

REFRESHMENT AREAS

Coffee and tea service will be available during the seminar hours on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in the Michigan Room on the 2nd Level, by the Exhibitor Hall.

PARKING

The Sheraton Grand is located in downtown Chicago and parking may be difficult and costly. Fortunately, the conference site is readily accessible via public transit (trains and buses). See Public Transportation below for further information. The Sheraton Grand Chicago offers self-parking on a first-come/first-serve basis at a rate of $65 USD/day.

TAXIS AND RIDESHARING

Taxis are available throughout the downtown area. Ridesharing services like Uber and Lyft can be requested through mobile applications. The address for the conference site is Sheraton Grand Chicago, 301 E. North Water St., Chicago, IL 60611.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

The Chicago Transit Authority (CTA) website provides schedules and route maps of elevated trains and buses serving the downtown area (referred to by locals and in transit materials as "the Loop"). Note that the Sheraton is slightly to the northeast of the downtown area:
<https://www.transitchicago.com/>

Please note that CTA trains and buses both accept the Ventra Card pass. Ventra cards and singleride passes can be purchased at most train stations and a variety of retail locations (including Walgreens and CVS stores).

Transportation to/from the Sheraton Grand and O'Hare International Airport (ORD): There is a Blue Line train station inside of O'Hare airport. Pass cards (called a Ventra pass) can be purchased inside the train station. Take the train from the O'Hare blue line station to the Grand blue line. Transfer to the 65 Bus from there heading in the direction of Navy Pier and exit at Illinois & St. Clair. The Sheraton is a two-minute walk from that location.

Transportation to/from the Sheraton Grand and Chicago Midway International Airport (MID): There is an Orange Line train station inside of Midway airport. Pass cards (called a Ventra pass) can be purchased inside the train station. Take the train from the Midway station to the orange line State/Lake station. Transfer to the 124 bus heading in the direction of Navy Pier and exit at Columbus & North Water.

The conference site is within walking distance from several train stations and buses.

ACLA Code of Conduct

ACLA meetings and events are convened for the purposes of professional development and scholarly and educational interchange in the spirit of free inquiry and free expression. Professional academic ethics and norms shall apply as standards of behavior and interaction at these meetings and events.

ACLA seeks to provide an environment in which diverse participants may learn from each other, interact in scholarly exchange, and enjoy the company of colleagues in an environment of mutual human respect. Some behaviors are, therefore, specifically prohibited as they may contaminate this environment.

Harassment of colleagues, students, or other Participants in ACLA meetings and events undermines the principle of equity at the heart of our meetings and events and is inconsistent with the principles of free inquiry and free expression. Consequently, the ACLA considers all forms of harassment to be a serious form of professional misconduct. This Code of Conduct outlines expectations for all those who attend or participate in ACLA meetings and events.

1. Purpose

ACLA is committed to providing a safe and welcoming conference environment for all Participants, regardless of actual or perceived gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, sexual orientation, ability, socioeconomic status, age, or religion. “Participant” in this policy refers to anyone present at ACLA meetings and events, including ACLA staff, contractors, vendors, exhibitors, venue staff, ACLA members, volunteers and all other attendees.

2. Expected Behavior

All Participants at ACLA meetings and events are expected to abide by this Anti-Harassment Policy in all meeting and event venues including ancillary events and official and unofficial social gatherings. These are our basic guidelines:

- Abide by the norms of professional respect that are necessary to promote the conditions for free academic interchange.
- If you witness potential harm to a Participant, be proactive in helping to mitigate or avoid that harm.
- Alert venue or security personnel or law enforcement if you see a situation in which someone might be in imminent physical danger.

3. Unacceptable Behavior

Unacceptable behaviors include, but are not limited to:

- persistent and unwelcome solicitation of emotional or physical intimacy, with or without real or implied threat of professional harm
- intimidating, harassing, abusive, derogatory or demeaning speech or actions by any participant in an ACLA meeting and/or at any related event
- prejudicial actions or comments related to actual or perceived gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, sexual orientation, ability, socioeconomic status, age, or religion that coerce others, foment broad hostility, or otherwise undermine professional equity or the principles of free academic exchange
- deliberate intimidation, stalking or following
- harassing photography or recording
- sustained disruption of talks or other events
- physical assault (including unwelcome touch or groping)
- real or implied threat of physical harm

4. Reporting and Investigation

Any forms of harassment as described in this Anti-Harassment Policy should be reported to ACLA's President. Any forms of harassment as described in this policy involving ACLA's President should be reported to ACLA's Vice President. ACLA will use reasonable efforts to investigate complaints in accordance with reasonable standards of due process and fairness and will maintain confidentiality to the extent reasonably possible. If deemed necessary, the Executive Committee may consult outside counsel to assist in the investigation. No individual will be retaliated against for making a complaint or assisting with the investigation of a complaint.

5. Penalties for Unacceptable behavior

Anyone who is found to have engaged in harassment will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action. ACLA reserves the right to expel, censure, and/or bar from future ACLA meetings and events any Participant who violates this Anti-Harassment Policy.

State of the Discipline Report

Dear ACLA member,

The Bylaws of the American Comparative Literature Association (ACLA) mandate that a State of the Discipline Report be prepared by the association every decade. The five previous reports (1965, 1975, 1993, 2006, and 2014) have become landmarks in the history of the discipline, chronicling its developments intellectually and institutionally. Taken together, those reports tell a story of Comparative Literature's increasing openness to the world beyond Europe, a widening range of interdisciplinary approaches, and a gradual democratization of the process of producing the Report itself: from prescriptive statements issued by eminent scholars at elite institutions to the wide-open format of the 2010s, in which a large number of comparatists from a broad spectrum of institutions and ranks contributed to a mosaic of comparative practices. As co-chairs of the editorial committee of the 2020s Report, we invite you to share your perspective on the developments, transformations, continuities, challenges, opportunities, and any other aspect of significance for Comparative Literature at the present time. We welcome essays of 1,000-5,000 words, to be submitted through the "Submit an Entry" link on stateofthedisipline.acla.org. The website will remain open for submissions until November 1, 2023. All submissions will be reviewed by the Editorial Committee. The online version of the Report will be launched in 2024.

Please submit your essay to only one of the following sections. The questions below are meant only as suggestions; feel free to address others you deem relevant.

Languages, grounds, translation

How has multilingualism fared in the past decade? What is the sphere of comparison now? Which languages have newly emerged within the purview of Comparative Literature, which remain central or marginal, and which have dropped out? How are the grounds for comparison among linguistic traditions being established? What kinds of relations continue to be relevant? Which ones are being formed? Which have become problematic, and why? What role has translation played in literary scholarship and pedagogy?

Section editors: Theo D'haen and Irene Sywenky

Theories, paradigms, methods, keywords

What new ideas, approaches, and concepts emerged in the past decade? How have existing theories, methods, and paradigms evolved? Which have emerged, or reemerged? How is Comparative Literature today informed by disciplinary, interdisciplinary, philological, postcolonial, digital, environmental, medical, social science, and other methodologies?

Section editors: Dina Al-Kassim and Ranjana Khanna

Worlds, regions, minorities, geopolitics

How have the categories of World Literature, area studies, minorities, diaspora, migration, and refugees challenged or critiqued the idea of national literature? Which scales of comparison have gained purchase over the past decade? How do they intersect with, nest within, reinforce, contest, or cancel one another? How does geopolitics shape the space and the priorities of Comparative Literature?

Section editors: Dina Al-Kassim and Theo D'haen

Histories, temporalities, periodization

What historical categories and/or temporal paradigms are newly relevant to Comparative Literature? Which have been questioned, modified, or bypassed in the last decade? Which periods, and which geo-cultural temporalities, have come to the attention of comparatists recently? How is the tension between historicism and presentism being negotiated? What histories of the present, and of presentism, inform comparative practices today?

Section editors: Sangeeta Ray and Irene Sywenky

State of the Discipline Report

Power, justice, ethics

In what old and new ways have colonialism, indigeneity, race, ethnicity, gender, class, and other forms of hegemony impacted Comparative Literature over the past decade? How has the discipline responded (or not)? What forms of ethical engagement in scholarship, teaching, and public outreach are available to comparatists today?

Section editors: Chadwick Allen and Rei Terada

Institutions, pedagogy, employment

How have the working conditions of comparatists changed over the past decade? What new challenges present themselves? Where have student enrollments declined or increased? What teaching strategies have continued, emerged, or changed to meet the challenges of the past decade? What are the implications of the ongoing job crisis for graduate programs in Comparative Literature? How should we be preparing students for career both within and without the academy?

Section editors: Sangeeta Ray and Rei Terada

We hope that you will consider contributing to the State of the Discipline Report of the 2020s.

Sincerely,

*Wail S. Hassan & Shu-mei Shih
Editorial Committee Co-Chairs*
